

Finding Teaching Journals through the University Library for the Praxis Report

- 1) Go to the library website (library.sc.edu)
- 2) Under Electronic Resources, click Locate Online Journals by Title
(you may have to use your USC credentials at some point, even if you're on campus!)
- 3) Type in any of these journal names:
Voices from the Middle (middle level)
Language Arts (middle level)
English Journal
English Education
Research in the Teaching of English
- 4) You'll get this kind of list: If you click on the first option, Publisher, it will take you to the NCTE websites I was directing you to and you have full access!

- 5) If you already have your topic, gained through browsing, and you want to find another article in the same journal and/or in other ones, click on the database option. You can search your topic using that search bar, top right (make sure you have the "In this Title" on the pull menu)
